

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 A laser module has a laser driver that emits a green-light laser, and a reflector arranged in front of the laser driver, with the reflector receiving the emitted laser. The reflector partially passes the laser and partially reflects the laser. The laser module further includes an automatic control circuit coupled to the laser driver, the automatic control circuit having a light detector that receives the reflected laser, and based thereon, adjusts the output power of the laser driver.